EXPERIENCE

Bolt.new — Content and Communications Director Feb 2026 – Present / Remote

- Led foundational brand work spanning mission, vision, tone of voice, and editorial guidelines: the standards that keep content consistent across the internal team, external creators, and agency partners.
- Diagnosed AI-answer visibility and citation performance, then built and executed a GEO/AEO content strategy against the gaps: grew own-domain citations from 786 to 1,809 in a month (#9 → #5 among all cited domains) while holding #1 in AI-answer visibility.
- Built and rolled out a company-wide AI tooling suite for research, writing, and editorial review, including a Claude-linked copy desk, plus a measurement framework connecting content and PR performance to business metrics.
- Established a new PR program from the ground up: defined the audience, mapped the media universe, expanded the spokesperson bench from 1 to 6, and extended earned coverage beyond the US into the UK.
- Launched a new blog and increased publication cadence from 1–2 posts/month to 3–4/week; personally writes and edits ongoing posts, customer stories, and web copy while setting the strategy the rest of the team builds against.

- Directed a data-driven PR program across 5 agencies spanning the US, UK, Benelux, DACH, and Singapore, none of them reporting to me, holding every market to the same editorial bar; drove earned media to 60% of tier-1 coverage, a 40% YoY increase.
